

The Power of Stone in Vermont's History

Date: Sept 17th and 18th, 2017

Where: The Vermont Marble Museum and the Proctor Village Square

The list of participants:

Vermont Chamber of Commerce

Vermont Historical Society

Proctor Free Library – Mary Fregosi and Nancy Kennedy

The Slate Museum

Rock of Ages

Alice Blount – Geologists – Children's Activities

Senator Patrick Leahy

Vermont Celtic Company

Vermont Opera Project

The Carving Studio

The Vermont Stone Trail

The goal is to have a 2 day event that shares the “Power of Stone in Vermont's History” and how it has shaped our lives today.

A reenactment of the Irish History related to the stone industry

Marble, slate, and granite displays explaining the history of each of Vermont's stone and the impact on our state and country

Food Vendors

An evening Opera

The Vermont Stone Trail

A permanent record of the event with signage and photos

